

T | 587 830 1321

E | pwithams@gmail.com

W | github.com/paddyw2

Current Computer Science student

Second place in Java programming competition

High proficiency in Java, Python, C, C++, HTML/CSS, JavaScript, and more

Strong logical reasoning and problem solving abilities

Visually creative, with proven graphic design and UI/UX skills

Work Experience

Helio Technology Inc.

Worked for this consumer electronics company as a Front End Developer and Graphic Designer. As a developer I worked with a backend developer to create a 3D printing online quote web application. I also updated and maintained the company website.

Stylelabs Inc.

Worked for this digital marketing agency as a project manager and content manager. I also provided assistant graphic design work. As a content manager I was in charge of social media and content writing, and as a project manager I was in charge of website delivery.

G9 Consulting

Worked for this accounting company as a marketing assistant, copywriter and website manager. I wrote copy for two different websites and uploaded it using CMS and HTML. I also created Google AdWords for the company.

EngWorks Inc.

Worked as a marketing assistant for this hazardous location Engineering company. I helped with the website's SEO and created and designed print ads. I also created online PDF registration forms for upcoming training courses and updated the company website.

CMYK Design

Interned at this Edinburgh-based design and contract publishing company. I worked in the editorial department and wrote copy for websites and magazines, along with a couple of full length feature articles.

Stevenson Adventures

Worked as a marketing researcher for a children's outdoor charity. I was tasked with getting around 25 youths involved with charity - I was successful and produced a 5500-word report detailing my progress and findings.

Onboard Snowboarding Magazine

Interned at Europe's largest snowboarding magazine in Munich, Germany. My roles at this internship included organizing competitions, posting WordPress articles on the magazine's popular website and Facebook page, and reporting on international events.